

Department: Electives

Course Name: Global Leadership and Economics

Course Description:

This elective course will introduce students to ten important leaders of the past 100 years. The course will examine how each person made a significant impact on the 20th century, and by extension, the 21st century with their leadership styles and policies. In the Economics part of the class, each student will learn basic financial skills such as: banking, buying a car, buying a house, paying for college and how to invest. The course will examine basic economic philosophy and hard and fast economic principles still in use today. Both the macroeconomic and microeconomic basic concepts will be introduced.

Content:

Leadership
Civics
Economics
History

Skills:

Reading
Note-taking Discussion
Writing
Project-based learning
Oral presentations

Text and Materials:

No text is required. The teacher will provide all academic materials.

Methods of Instruction:

Discussion
Lecture
Presentation
Student driven participation

Methods of Evaluation:

MLA formatted essays and papers
Quizzes
Tests
Presentations

